

The background of the book cover is a nighttime photograph of a city skyline. In the foreground, a multi-lane highway is visible, with long, bright orange and yellow light trails from cars stretching from the bottom center towards the middle of the image. To the left of the highway, several tall buildings are illuminated with warm, yellow lights. To the right, another tall building is visible, also lit up. In the far background, the dark silhouette of a city skyline is visible against a dark night sky. The overall mood is urban and dynamic.

Poems

and

Assorted

writings

Erica Bufus

Who is the one that my soul loves, who sees one hundred of my dreams,
Who saw one thousand of my nightmares,
Who hears my rain falling,
Who heard my window breaking,
Who reads my mind my thoughts my face,
Who read the book of love I wrote,
Who sleeps in our bed of new memories,
Who slept in that old house of tears,
You feel me without seeing me,
At night when you miss my voice,
In the morning I bring her a smile,
I felt her with fear at first,
But in time all hearts open,

